State Street, Stop & Shop and PGA TOUR Wives Association Announce 2010 “Healthy Packs” Initiative at Deutsche Bank Championship

Program returns for the second year to deliver 2,000 bags filled with healthy food options to children in need in Greater Boston area

NORTON, Mass. (August 17, 2010) – State Street Corporation and Stop & Shop, in cooperation with the PGA TOUR Wives Association, today announced their “Healthy Packs” initiative that will provide approximately 2,000 pre-packed reusable bags of healthy snack options to children in need throughout the South Boston, Brockton, and Dorchester communities of Massachusetts.

On Thursday, September 2, as part of Deutsche Bank Championship Week, State Street and Stop & Shop employee volunteers will team up alongside members of the PGA TOUR Wives Association to assemble snack packages in Kids Village at the TPC Boston in Norton, Mass. The snack packages will be delivered to children in the Greater Boston area with the goal of teaching these children about the importance of making healthy food choices.

“We are thrilled to once again work with the PGA TOUR Wives Association and the Greater Boston Food Bank to bring the ‘Healthy Packs’ initiative to the Deutsche Bank Championship,” said George A. Russell, Jr., executive vice president and director of Corporate Citizenship at State Street. “The ‘Healthy Packs’ initiative exemplifies our long-standing commitment to serving the communities where we reside and work, by providing healthy food to those in need. Active involvement with our communities around the world through our Global Outreach employee volunteer program is one of State Street’s fundamental values.”

“PGA TOUR Wives Association members are excited to be working with the Deutsche Bank Championship again this year as we are continuing our long relationship with State Street, Stop & Shop and the Greater Boston Food Bank,” said Shauna Matteson, wife of PGA TOUR player Troy Matteson. “The collaborative effort of our partners on this initiative is an excellent example of how through golf, its fans, sponsors and communities, we can unite to support charity and volunteerism on a consistent basis. We are proud to be able to join forces with State Street and the Healthy Packs initiative to help feed those people who need it most.”

The Healthy Packs Initiative is now in its second year. Last year it was part of the PGA TOUR’s “Golf Fore Groceries” campaign, a national food drive taking place at TPC clubs throughout the United States as well as at four PGA TOUR events that culminated with the Deutsche Bank Championship. Due to the success last year, the Deutsche Bank Championship brought the program back for 2010.

“The Deutsche Bank Championship is proud to be able to use the ‘Healthy Pack Initiative’ to actively assist young people and their families,” said Championship Director Eric Baldwin. “We are especially thrilled to have our loyal partners, State Street and Stop & Shop, on board again with the PGA TOUR Wives Association to continue their efforts to support the Greater Boston Food Bank.”

In addition to the Healthy Packs program, Stop & Shop will conduct a food drive at its Mansfield location at 377 Chauncy Street in Mansfield on Wednesday, September 1. Canned and non-perishable food items can be dropped for collection from 6 am. to 6 p.m. Stop & Shop also will accept donations with checks made payable to the Greater Boston Food Bank.

“For more than 30 years we have been supporting the food bank community,” said Stop & Shop’s Senior Director of Public Affairs Faith Weiner. “We’re honored to partner once again with State Street and the PGA TOUR Wives Association to support the work of the food banks and help deserving kids in need.”

This is the seventh consecutive year that the PGA TOUR Wives have teamed with volunteers from State Street to assist the Greater Boston Food Bank. Each year, the Greater Boston Food Bank delivers more than 30 million pounds of food to 600 member hunger-relief organizations. The Food Bank serves 321,500 people annually and 83,000 each week.
